EX-GOVERNOR WAITE, of Colorado, has espoused the Bryan cause. We wonder how Bryan likes that. Surely the poor man is sorely tried.

The winds which set in just shortly before the great Republican convention at St. Louis, should have deferred their visit until now, and they would have had a chance to do some tall soughing through the whiskers of the Pefferites.

According to the dispatches the fruit crop this year is not to be a very flattering one. In New England, New York, Michigan and Iowa the outlook is very good; but in other States the per cent. is away down. In the Ohio Valley the per cent. is about 67.

The will of the late Harriet Beecher Stowe has been probated, and her estate does not appear to be of such proportions as would be expected. Her estate inventories only $42,353.98. Her will leaves all of her property to her children—one son and two daughters.

CLEWS ON FINANCE.

NEW YORK, July 18, 1896.

In Wall Street, affairs continue unsettled, in sympathy with the disturbed condition of politics. The revival of exports of gold has also helped to encourage speculative selling. The ordinary mercantile demand for bills is comparatively nominal, and the current remittances are mainly for the liquidation of loans made for the carrying of securities. We are now on the verge of conditions which will influence the exchanges in our favor and put an end to gold shipments for some time. Already, advances are beginning to be made against the growing cotton crop, and foreign bankers show more confidence in loans of that character than in the last two seasons. Indeed, there is a manifest improvement in the disposition at London to extend credit to our various forms of commercial operations.

The result of the St. Louis Convention has produced a distinctly favorable impression upon the foreign banking interest. It appears to have been received as establishing a strongly pre-ponderant probability that, at least for the next four years, the Government will be controlled by the friends of the gold standard; which is viewed as warranting the hope that the silver danger will ultimately be overcome.
The humiliating political exhibition made at Chicago has no doubt in some measure checked that recovery of confidence for the time being. Not so much, perhaps, because it is regarded as threatening the success of the sound money cause in the coming election, as because the speech-making and the platform appeared to disclose a state of popular discontent and a violence of party attitude which might be of the utmost importance did it truly represent the real sentiment of the masses of the West and the South. On this account, there has been a cessation of the London buying of our securities since the conclusion of the Chicago Convention; and the foreign attitude is likely to remain that of reserve until the course of the election canvass affords fuller means of estimating the significance of the outbreak of socialistic demagogism which has so taken the country by surprise.

At the present moment, the feeling excited by these Chicago performances is much less that of concern for the fate of the gold standard than one of alarm at the seeming spread of hostile sectionalism, of socialistic sentiment, of deliberate repudiation and of popularism in an exaggerated form. Not a few people have drawn from these revolutionary planks of the platform the most pessimistic conclusions as to the future state of the country; and that sort of alarmism has found its sympathizers, and is used by the professional "bears" for disturbing confidence. These however are mainly the conclusions of shallow observers or hasty judges of events: who have not fairly weighed the question whether the millions of loyal citizens of the South and West have degenerated to the type of reckless revolutionists pictured in the lurid resolutions of the Chicago platform. These alarmists have not seriously weighed the alternatives whether such a mass of people have become suddenly transformed into red revolutionists, or whether the men who got themselves surreptitiously chosen to represent them as delegates have sought to make them such for their own despicable selfish purposes.

If the sentiment of sectional and class discontent is as unanimous among the millions of Western and Southern voters as it was among the delegates from those States, it is inconceivably strange that the fact should have been so little known, and should have been so little expressed through the representative press. Such a sudden transformation from order-respecting citizenship to the bold anarchic attitude expressed in the Chicago platform is something of which we are not prepared to concede our fellow citizens of other sections to be capable. It is quite conceivable that the embarrassment arising from the general decline in the prices of farm products may have created discontent and led to a demand for mistaken remedies. But, among Americans, discontent and repudiation and anarchism stand very widely apart; they do not join hands in a day; nor are there any grievances for which our people have ever been wont to seek satisfaction through robbery and ruin.

Our politics and our politicians, however, are less pure than our people.
There are few things which they allow to stand between them and power or spoils. If they have lost the confidence of the people, they know how to raise false issues by false representations in order to win the support of the masses most liable to be misled and most susceptible of being excited by inflaming issues. Pre-eminently that was the game played in the Chicago Convention. The leaders of that gathering had no case on which they could appeal to the sober judgment of the country; they therefore created a fictitious one, expressly constructed to appeal to the masses of our least educated population. They boldly resorted to the desperate expedient of raising a campaign of passion and revolution; and the Chicago platform is the outcome of that daring scheme. Probably few will be more surprised at that outcome than the very people whom these delegates were chosen to represent.
No doubt, many of the farmers and planters will be captured by a program appealing so flatteringly to their envy; but it may surely be safely assumed that there is a much larger proportion who will resent the gross imputation upon their loyalty and good citizenship which this platform casts in their faces. For one, I am far from being able to admit that this Union is made up of men who thus suddenly can be tempted into traitor-ship to its sacred bonds. I have too much confidence in the morals of Americans and in their faithfulness to their flag to believe that they can be thus misled, until their own votes have openly convicted them of lack of fealty.

HENRY CLEWS.

Why Silver is Cheap.

New York Times (Dem.)

In 1878 the total product of silver in the world was 61,100,000 ounces, and the silver in a dollar was worth $1.04 in gold.

Last year the world's product of silver was 165,000,000 ounces, and the silver in a dollar was worth only 50.7-10 cents.

In 1894 the potato crop of the United States was, in round numbers, 170,000,- 000 bushels and the average price 53 cents.

In 1895 the estimated potato crop was 400,000,000 bushels, and the average price was 26 cents.

The fall in both cases was due to the same cause.

Cure For Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence.
We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tonic to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00 at W. H. Styer's Drug Store.

What seems but a case of simple diarrhoea frequently develops into the most dangerous of bowel troubles, if neglected. Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry is a never-failing specific in all such cases.

HIS GREATEST SOLICITUDE.

Tempest Tossed Mariner Wanted to Hear from the Game.

It was during the terrific December gales of a year ago that a Yankee schooner flying signals of distress sailed into the bay of Gibraltar.
Almost immediately, says Youth's Companion, the American vice consul, with a friend, put off from the Cape Rowing club piers to visit her. As they clambered up the ship's ladder they were welcomed by the captain, a jolly Yankee from Plymouth, and by his rather gloomy crew. "Captain, are you in trouble? What can I do for you?" asked the vice consul, at the same time remarking that his friend had that morning arrived from New York on the Fuerst Bismarck. "Well, sir! The Lord knows we've had our troubles, bein' 54 days out o' London, an' no nearer New York than this. Two of the lads went over the side in that last blow, an' our topmasts went when they spars did. This pesky cargo o' chalk hes strained her so she's takin' water this minute. That's a sight o' things we needs done, an' we'll be obliged for your help, o' course, sir. But if this here young man has just come from New York he can tell us what we want to know afore he does anything else." The sailors crowded around their captain and listened intently as he continued: "What we want to know is haow did that there Harvard-Yale football game come out in November?"

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Calouette, Druggist, Beavers-ville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again.
It is worth its weight in gold. We would keep store or house without it."

Mangled by a Reaper.

MASILLON, O., July 18.—The four-year-old son of Nicholas Young, a prominent farmer, was terribly mangled Friday by a reaper. His father was cutting oats, and the child unnoticed walked directly against the knives.

Thousands are suffering excruciating misery from that plague of the night, Itching Piles, and say nothing about it through a sense of delicacy. Instant relief in Doan's Ointment. It never fails.

If I Knew.

If I knew the box where the smiles are kept,
No matter how large the key,
Or strong the bolt, I would try so hard "I would open, I know, for me, Then over the land and the sea, broadcast, I'd scatter the smiles to play,
That the children's faces might hold them fast
For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large enough To hold all the frowns I meet, I would like to gather them, every one,
From nursery, school and street.
Then, folding and holding, I'd pack them in,
And, turning the monster key, I'd hire a giant to drop the box To the depths of the deep, deep sea.
—The American Jewess.
